Hudson vs. Waugh. Opinion by Keith, From the Hustings Court of the city of Reversed.

J. R. Waugh purchased four parcels of land in the city of Roanoke from J. P. Hudson, for which he agreed to pay $1,200 in cash, executed his notes for $2,800. payable in one and two years, and assumed the payment of $2.7%, due from his vender to the old Dominion Building and Lo. a Association, secured by deeds of trust, making the entire purchase-price $5.00. Soon thereafter he discount-ca his notes, thus paying the whole of the purchase-money, except the lien held by the building association. This loan was to be repaid in monthly instalments of 5d each. It was expected to mature in about fifty-five months; but, by the terms of the deed, might continue for a in about fifty-five months; but, by the terms of the deed, might continue for a period not exceeding eighty-four months. At the time of the sale the houses and lots were renting for $72 per month; the rents declined to $40 per month, to $40 per month, and, finally, to $41 per month, About a year after the purchase of the lots Waugh discovered that the loan from the building association, which it had been represented to him would be satisfied by the payment of $4.7%, divided into about fifty-five instalments of $40 each, might be continued for as much as eighty-four months, thus increasing the amount he would have to pay to the association. After making this discovery be continued to pay a number of instalments down to the time then this suit was instituted. It appears also that, with respect to the amount of the loan due the building association, he did not rely wholly upon the representations of the vendor and his agents, but he sought and obtained independent advice upon the subject, and did not close the transaction until the sistement of the vendor's agents had thus been corroborated. He then filed his did not close the transaction until the statement of the vendor's agents had thus been corroborated. He then filed his bill, in which he charges that he had been induced to purchase these lots by false representation as to the amount of the outstanding line in fayor of the building association. His vendor, J. P. Hudson, answered, denying the fraud; and proofs were taken, and from the proofs the facts as above stated appear. It will be seen that the exact amount of the loan due the building association is dependent upon the date of maturity of its stock. If it should mature in about fifty-five months, then Waugh would be required to pay only the sum of $2.786; should the stock mature in less than fifty-five months, the loan would be discharged by the payment of a less sum; should the stock mature in less than fifty-five months, the loan would be discharged by the payment of a less sum; should the stock mature that $2.700. The evidence does not show when the stock would probably mature.

THE DECISION.

THE DECISION. Meld: That it was the duty of Waugh, as soon as he discovered that the loan was greater than he had supposed it to be at the time of the purchase, and that he was the victim either of fraud or a mutual mistake, at once to disaffirm the transaction. offer a reconveyance of the property, tender a restitution of all that he had received under it, and demand its recision; that he had no right to wait until the property had depreciated, and continue making payments upon it, thus lulling his vendor into security until the rents had diminished from $72 per month at the date of the contract to $43 per month at the institution of the sult; that it was inequitable for him thus to delay and impose upon his vendor a loss, which, if he had acted promptly, might have been averted.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY, VA., August 4.-(Special.)-We are having a very dry spell just now, which seems to be making our farmers restless, as it is a turning point with the corn and tobacco crop. The point with the corn and tobacco crop. The excessively well weather in the early part of the year has in many instances exhausted the fertilizers used, and the second application will not act until wet weather sets in again. The tobacco crop will not come up to the expectations that the planters had at one time. There are, however, some line crops. The yield of the wheat is poor, and that damaged, owing to the early rains about harvest. Politics are beginning to warm up. ## JUMPED THE TRACK.

ACCIDENT TO A TROLLEY PARTY AT REEDY CREEK.

Save One, and Her Injuries Are Not Serious-Other Items Gathered in

A very serious accident was narrowly averted Monday night on the Forest-Hill Park car line about twenty steps this side of the trestle which crosses Reedy creek. A trolley party composed mostly of young people from Manchester had left the park about 11:30 o'clock, and the motorman belonging to the Main-street road was not familiar with this line, Going down the steep grade the car crossed the trestle at a very rapid rate, and when it had proceeded about twenty yards after getting off the trestle it jumped the track. Fortunately the car dashed into a pole, which brought it to a standstill, even though the pole was broken. The pole saved the car and its passengers from a plunge of 20 feet, and had the accident happlunge of 20 feet, and had the accident happened three seconds earlier it would have taken a plunge into Reedy creek off the trestle, with results most scrious. As it was several passengers were thrown out, but Miss Mabel DuVal was the only one to receive any injuries worthy of mention. She was badly bruised, but not seriously hurt. Fortunately there was a car out at the park, which brought the party as far as the *power-house, where it dropped them, as it was the last car. Those who were in the party from Richmond were sorely disappointed when they found there were no more cars running, and that they had to walk from the power-house to Richmond.

FINANCIAL.

PROSPECTUS OF UNIVERSITY BONDS WITH STATEMENT OF SECURITIES FLEDGED THEREFOR.

PLEDGED THEREFOR.

The Legislature of Virginia, by its act of January 23, 1836, authorized the rector and visitors of the University of Virginia to issue their bonds for $200,000, payable at forty and redeemable at ten years after date, and secured by a deed of trust upon all the property of the university; and further made a continuing standing appropriation of $10,000 per annum out of the State revenues to meet the interest on them bonds, thus pledging the faith of the State, in the interest of public education, to provide for a prompt discharge of all annual interest accruing on the loan. This action was taken to restore losses by fire recently theretofore sustained by the university.

In pursuance of this authority the rector and visitors have insued $200,000 of univer-sity bonds of the denomination of $30 each, dated May 1, 1886, and bearing 5 per authority and authority and authority for the per-secution of the second secon each, dated May 1, 1886, and bearing 5 per cent. Interest, unyable semi-anusally, which under the above act are non-taxable by State, county, city, or town, thus equalling in net returns an ordinary 6 or 7 per cent investment.

By deed of trust from the university to the Virginia Trust Company, of Richmond, Va., which has been duly recorded, these bonds and all interest to accrue thereon are most amply and completely secured (over and above the continuing appropriation above named from the State) by the conveyance and assignment of the following property:

PERSONAL PROPERTY (including water-works.)
First, All the movable personal property, equipment, and apparatus

First. All the movable personal property, equipment, and apparatus of the university on its premises, of the value of at least.

on the buildings and the establishment of a sinking fund to cover the principal at maturity.

It may be added that the buildings and improvements aiready upon the land include thirteen professors houses, 210 dormitories for students, the nuseum, gymnasium, infirmary, observatory, hotels, boarding-houses, lecture-rooms, halls, offices, and the beautifully arranged grounds of the university. Those to be erected with the proceeds of the loan and other contributions already in hand will make the buildings more complete and valuable than ever before.

The university is a free school for Virginia students, and while it is an incorporated institution, the beneficial ownership of it is in the State; and the State, in maintaining its public-school system and protecting its interest in the property pledged for the bonds, would necessarily protect this loan, even if every other security therefor should by possibility fail. The annual income of the university is $12,000. Its whole fixed charges for all the interest and sinking funds (which have by law and under the terms of the deed of trust to be met in preference to every other expenditure) are less than $20,000 per annum.

For seventy years, and during all the other expenditure) are less than $20,000 per annum.

For seventy years, and during all the victssitudes through which every financial interest in the State has passed in that time, the university has continued with a steadily increasing prosperity, and it stands now with renewed assurance of continued progress and advancement; but whether prosperious or not, the principal and interest of the bonds offered are secured beyond doubt or question, even if the doors of the institution should be closed to-merrow.

It is submitted that an investment is seldom placed upon the market offering such inducements in the way of undoubted and unquestioned security, immunity from taxation, and so good a rate of interest; and to investors seeking safe and reminerative returns it affords an exportunity rarely to be met with for placing their funds.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

REPORTS FROM ALL GREAT BUSI-NESS CENTRES OF THE WORLD.

Grain, Tobacco, Cotton, Cattle, Country Produce, &c., Foreign and Domestic.

NEW YORK, August 4.- In the first fifteen minutes' business at the Stock Exchange the market was active and ex-3 5-8 per cent, under heavy offerings for both accounts. The demoralization was due to the aunouncement of the failure of Moore Brothers, of Chicago. The firm has been intimately connected with the Diamond Match Company and the New York Biscuit Company, and their suspension was a great surprise here. The report that the liabilities of the concern were $20,000,000 was not generally credited. New York has had very little interest in the shares of the Diamond Match Company, which, it is understood, brought about the embarrassment of the Moores, and after the break at the opening in the Western railroad and Industrial issues local operators were inclined to take a calmer view of the situation. The failure will undoubtedly have some influence on the money market later on, and to this extent it will be reflected in stocks. To-day call loans were worth 31-2 per cent. at one time, but near the close borrowers were accommodated at 11-292 per cent. In time loans bankers have raised their rates to 61-2 per cent., and the commercial paper market is decidedly stiffer.

In the break at the opening the Grangers, the Industrials, and other issues which are trailed in by western operators, suffered the heaviest losses. Later on it embarrassment of the Moores, and after which are traied in by western operators, suffered the heaviest losses. Later on it was reported from Chicago that a movement was on foot to protect Diamond-Match stock, and this checked the selling movement at the local board. Near the close the early sellers endeavored to cover, and the prominent issues rallied takes 2.8 per cent.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, August 4.—Before the wheat market opened to-day much anxiety was manifested as to the effect likely to be produced by the sensational fallure of the Moore Brothers, of Diamond Match and New York Biscuit fame, and prices on the curb dropped a full cent from last night's closing. That confidence was unshaken, howsver, was shown by the fact that buying ones at the start, and the recovery which took place during the regular session was slow but sure. Board of Trade people were "short" of the securities mentioned, and they would be benefited by any break which might occur on them. The trade in grains did not develop any unusual features, interest for the time being having been transferred to the provision 9t, which was in an excited and confused condition. September wheat opened at 53-34638, advanced to 83-4c., and closed at 58-58693-4c.—a shade under yesterday. Cash wheat was lower early, but eventually recovered the loss, closing firm.

Corn—The opening on corn was weak and lower, on the influence exerted by the closing of the local Stock Exchange and the causes which led up to such action. There was nothing panicky about the trade, however, and the feeling soon became confudent, a full recovery taking, place. September corn opened at from 41-2 to 24-3-c., advanced to 25-3-c., and closed at $1-3625-1-ic.—1-c. higher than yesterday. Cash corn was steady.

Oats displayed sentiments similar to that prevailing in the other markets. Trade was not heavy enough to admit of any demonstration of either weakness or strength, the markets showing a slow and indifferent action. September oats closed unchanged from yesterday. Cash corn was steady.

Provisions—The story of an anticipated squeeze in September pork by Montreal people had the effect of arousing shorts to a sense of danger to-day, and their purchases, with those for the account of Armour, advarced prices for that commodity quite sharply. The strength was co

To-day's features: Reports of rain in Texas caused a weakening in cotton to-day. The failure of Moore Brothers, of Chicago, also had a depressing effect for a time. But the Weather Bureau reported only light scattered rains in Texas, the total in that State for 'wenty-four hours being only 1.72 inches. The Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin stating that the weather in the Southwest for twelve days had been intensely hot. At Little Rock the maximum temperature for seven days was 100 degrees, for four days 102 degrees, and for one day '04 degrees. New Orleans sent fresh batches of damage reports, accompanied with buylag orders. Local shorts covered, and commission-houses did a fair amount of buylag. Two large operators, recently identified with the bear side, joined the buillish ranks to-day. Accordingly, the early loss was recovered, and an advance ensued. The course of the market in the immediate future will be governed largely by the tonor of the weekly crop and weather reports.

Arabin.

An arid terror and the dread of man, Wearly crawl through seas of bilstering The straggling groups of a great cars

With dates and dours from the Yemen's sore,
It braves the pitiless desert's flercest heat;
The thirsty camels totter, faint, and snore,
The suffering Bedouins dream of cisterns

The road is long and no refreshing palm Charms the infecund waste with verdant plumes; The death-sun tortures them, the awful calm Angrily hints of imminent simoons

Mecca, the wonder, with its bright, broad walls, Has been the goal that they will never reach,

And every hot and savage ray that falls
Is doomed their fated skeletons bleach. No more shall these poor wanderers be-

The holy Casba, and the sacred shrine, Where in a maze of marble and of gold, The Prophet slumbers in his rest divine Nor shall their balsams, myrrh, and precious stones

Be sold through Djedda's intricate ba-

And none will hear the muessin when he drones
The throng to Mosque below Medinian stars.

Shricking to heedless Allah, sore afraid, By wafts of maddening, cruel heat o'or powered,
In graves of shifting sand they will be inic,
By ravenous swarms of locusta be devoured.

While oe'r their scorched and withered bodies strewn
In disarray amid deserted tents,
The irreproachable and callous moon
Will rise in her screne magnificence,
